My name is Brooklyn, I was born and raised in a small town outside Springfield Missouri. I have always been interested in pursuing a career in photography on both sides of the lens. I am an outgoing fun loving person who loves to meet new people. If I call you my friend, I mean it and I will do all I can to support and elevate you.

I believe we should embrace our imperfections; I have struggled all my life with a birth defect called ptosis affecting my left eye. I have been bullied and teased all my life because of it and because of that for a long time made me feel insecure about my appearance. But, I have come to realize that it is not a burden, it is something unique and different and I choose to embrace it. I do still struggle at times with how I look, but I strive to overcome that and I am determined push myself to become everything I can be despite that minor, superficial flaw.

I have been modeling for a while now and working hard to develop my portfolio when I met Sean Tice, a great photographer and mentor. He has been so patient and kind with me, helping me to embrace my flaws and teach me how to express myself on film. I have learned so much from his experience and talent as a photographer and artist. I am always excited to see the images we create together.

I am single now, and concentrating on my career but I do have to admit I like to go out and have a good time when I meet the right kind of person. I am very independent and manage well on my own right now, but who knows, if the right guy comes along...

For now, I want to push myself to become a success in everything I do. Modeling and photography are my passion, I dream of having my own photography business one day and would love to travel the world in that capacity. I have always wanted to visit exotic locations to work- Australia, Bali, Hawaii, and Europe are on my list of places to explore and work. Keep an eye out for me, I am highly motivated, willing to learn and eager to expand my portfolio- remember my name, so much more to come!

Gypsy Rose

Gypsy Rose is an innovative model for the modern world, inspired by legends, but sets herself apart from others due to her natural talent of showmanship, grace, and charming personality, which shines through the eye of the lens captured in time.

Although Gypsy Rose has modeled for several years, 2015 is the year she made the move to focus on print work. Her first publication to be featured in was Abattoirs Angels

PinUp Issue and will be seen in upcoming issues of Delicious Dolls and Electric Pinup Magazines.

Aside from modeling her two other passions include writing erotic fiction and her Dodge Challenger named "Baby". If you look close at her ankle, you'll see various Dodge emblems along the side. With her writing she has yet to find a publisher for her novels however she has submitted and has been published in Surreal Beauty Magazine and Vintage Boudoir Magazine.

Rose would like to thank Crystal Godsey at Epix Tattoo for the wonderful ink and Midas at Fedora Photo for his efforts in getting her featured in print. Of course the great pinup models such as the one and only Bettie Page who served as role models to her look and modeling.

I grew up in a small town with a big dream. A dream that seemed unreachable for a short awkward little girl. I was put into a few beauty pageants when I was young. Surprise, I never won. I never had much self esteem. But I never wanted to give up my dream, so I convinced my parents to put me into a modelling class. This class taught me alot about walking, strutting and posing. The best part was at the end of the whole class I was told that you need to be at least 5'10 or taller to be a model. Well, didn't that just burst my bubble. So I put my dream on hold for a while. Went through highschool, college and moved all the way to British Columbia for fun. Met a guy, it turned into a thing. Told him my dream, and he suggested I continue to pursue it. With little to no experience I joined a model website called model mayhem. Found a few local photographers, and started to actually do real modelling gigs. Soon after I conjured up even more courage and decided to submit myself into a bikini contest. Wow, was I ever nervous. But never the less I did it. Not to long after I had discovered I was pregnant. Sure enough first thing that ran through my mind was, "how long will my dreams be put on hold for now?" We then decided to move back to Ontario. I then gave birth to my beautiful son, and thought to myself, "if I can give birth, I can do anything if I set my mind to it." So I got up off the couch, worked hard and started searching for local photographers. Found a few, did some shoots and now here I am. Never give up hope!

JASMINEWONG

I was born in a small town, just outside of Vancouver B.C, raised from a big family I was the one who had, as my mom would say: "A flair for fashion". I've always had a way of doing things a little differently than others. From the creativeness in my design, my "eye for the tiger", my determination and my unique sense of style, this gal knew she would be something when she grew up, not sure what... but something / someone in this big Old world!

When I was about 13 I got a job offer, the local mall was having a "Bring on Summer" event and I was asked to partake in the annual fashion show. I hadn't done anything like this before, but I has always wanted and hoped for the day I would get my chance. Once I agreed, they put me in a runway class and a few model pose workshops. Since I was new, I was very grateful for the opportunity at hand. The night of the show I was pretty exited, I was about to go down the runway modeling Tommy Hilfinger's new summer collection. I was thinking is this even real right now!

My career, I could feel it was about to start. But as I was so young my parents insisted I waited till after high-school to really take it serious. I got a few different jobs during that time. One of the better ones was for Calvin Klein. He was doing an abstract type of shoot and he made outfits from bags. It was interesting. Once I graduated I was able to focus on my career. I started doing photoshoots, hoping I would be comfortable in front of the camera, sure enough I was a natural. Soon I had enough pictures to begin my portfolio. Now I was getting exited, I was becoming a model, it was a little dream coming true.

I got a part time job as a photographers assistant working with her at her studio. My duties were such jobs eg: helping the women pose, there facial expressions and well I have an eye for flaws so anything that was out of place. I would also help the gals get all dolled up. Pick out which outfits and accessories they wanted to wear. Working at the studio really opened my vision on modeling, as this photographer specialized in Pin-Up old school style shots. I fell in love with the style, the Betty came out in me and Jazzy Cupcake was born! From the hair to the lips to the clothes to the bad ass hot rods and custom bikes, I knew I had found the niche for me.

My style changed and so did the style in my modeling, Hot rods and motorcycles where my new jadore. The photos were turning out amazing, my new creativeness was a hit. From the hot rod car clubs to the custom build bike clubs to some serious bad ass custom bike shops, this Cupcake is making her self one fabulous portfolio. life as a model is quite exiting, especially once you start getting more known. From working events and from being published, people start to recognize you.

I've done some pretty bas ass work, from clothing company's asking me to repp there gear. Purpose Apparel in white rock Canada B.C, Sullen clothing in L.A California and Vandal clothing in Lloydminster, Canada AB. From getting to be on the cover and a 2 page spread in Build Magazine in Langley B.C, to getting published in Kustoms magazine in Europe to becoming a poster girl for one sick custom bike shop, Trickfactory Customs in Coquitlam B.C.

But regardless how big or small the job may be, to me it's all an experience and networking. I love an adventure, cause after all isn't that what life is all about? Take a chance, Roll them dice! Life is what you make it, always listen to your heart and follow your dreams.

Keep it up keep it cool n keep it real !
Peace n Love from Jazzy cupcake
